

9 types of people you find on your team

Asankhaya Sharma
Director Veracode

TEAM FORTRESS 2[®]

codelion ▾

 Singapore

No information given.

Recent Activity

0.1 hours past 2 weeks

Team Fortress 2

1,006 hrs on record
last played on 14 Mar

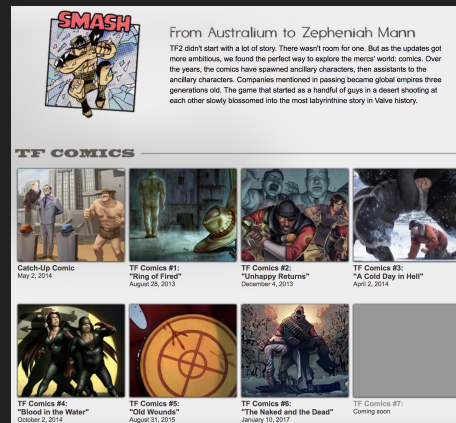

Achievement Progress 300 of 520

+295

Team Fortress 2

- Team based multiplayer first person shooter
- 1996 Team Fortress mod for Quake
- 1999 Team Fortress Classic
- 2007 Team Fortress 2
- 2011 becomes free to play (F2P)

34.	92	Team Fortress 2	User: 9.1	Oct 10, 2007
35.	92		TEAM FORTRESS 2	Aug 11, 1999
36.	92	Platform: PC		Mar 28, 2005
37.	92	Publisher: Electronic Arts , Valve Software Release Date: Oct 10, 2007		Sep 22, 2004
38.	92			Dec 12, 2017
39.	92	92 Metascore 17 critics	9.1 User Score 6160 Ratings	Sep 15, 2015
40.	92	Tier: The Dark Project	User: 9.0	Nov 30, 1998

Game play

- Two teams
 - Red
 - Blu
- Nine character classes
 - Scout
 - Soldier
 - Pyro
 - Demoman
 - Heavy
 - Engineer
 - Medic
 - Sniper
 - Spy

- Modes
 - Capture the Flag
 - Control Points
 - Attack/Defend
 - King of the Hill
 - Payload Race
 - Mann vs Machine Coop
- Maps
 - 6 official maps
 - 100+ maps added in subsequent updates

TF2 Competitive Leagues

UGC

UGC is a free-to-play, world-wide league (North America, South America, Europe, Australia/New Zealand & Asia), that primarily caters to the Highlander scene, as well as 6s and 4v4.

ETF2L

ETF2L is a free-to-play, European league, that primarily caters to the 6s scene, as well as Highlander. Their Premier division is the highest division you can reach in European comp TF2.

ESEA

ESEA is a pay-to-play, North American league, that caters to the 6s scene. Their Invite division is the highest division you can reach in North American competitive TF2.

ozfortress ozfortress is a free-to-play, Australian league, that caters to the 6s scene.

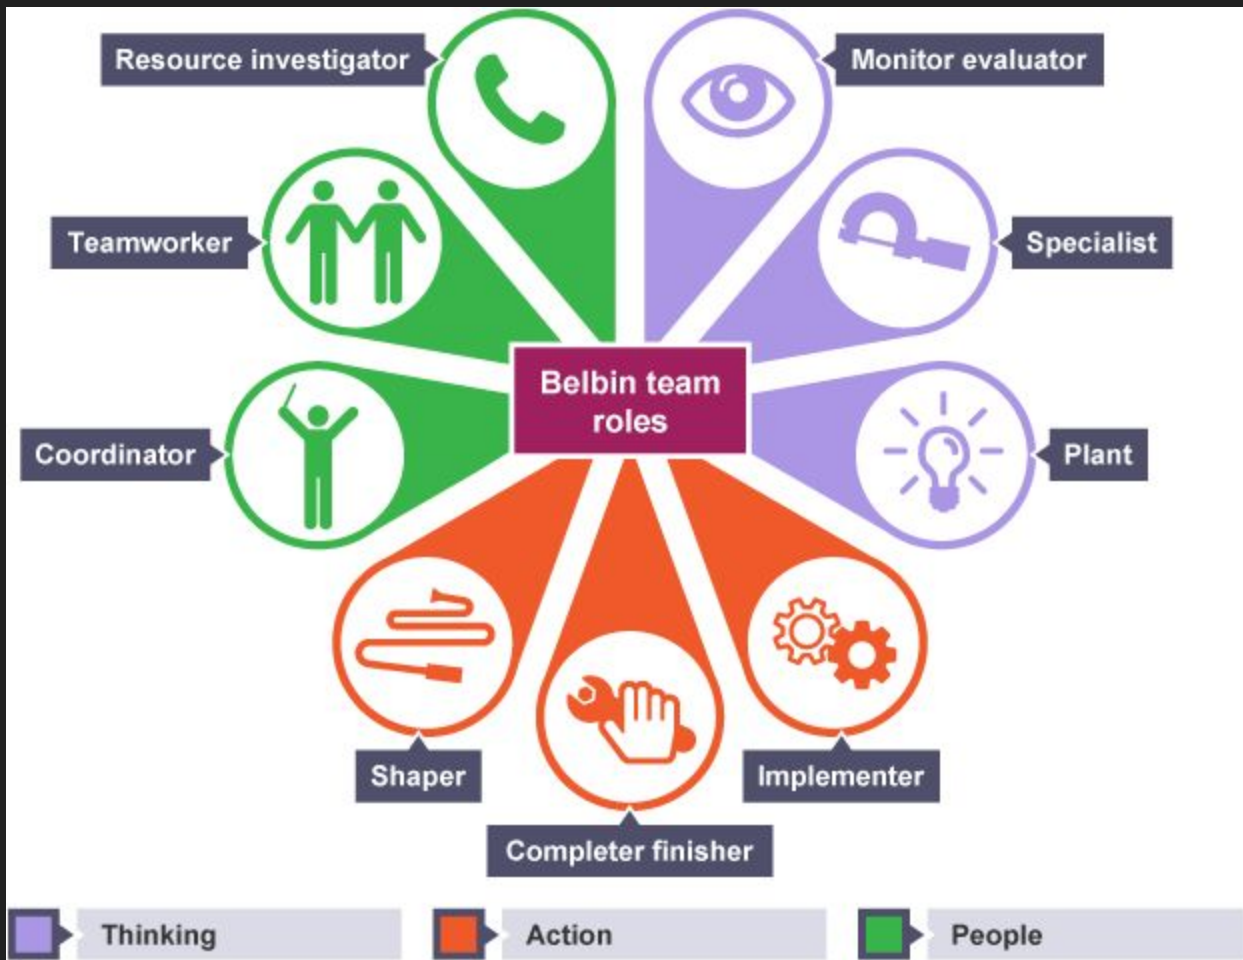

AsiaFortress

AsiaFortress is a free-to-play, Asian league, that caters to the 6s scene.

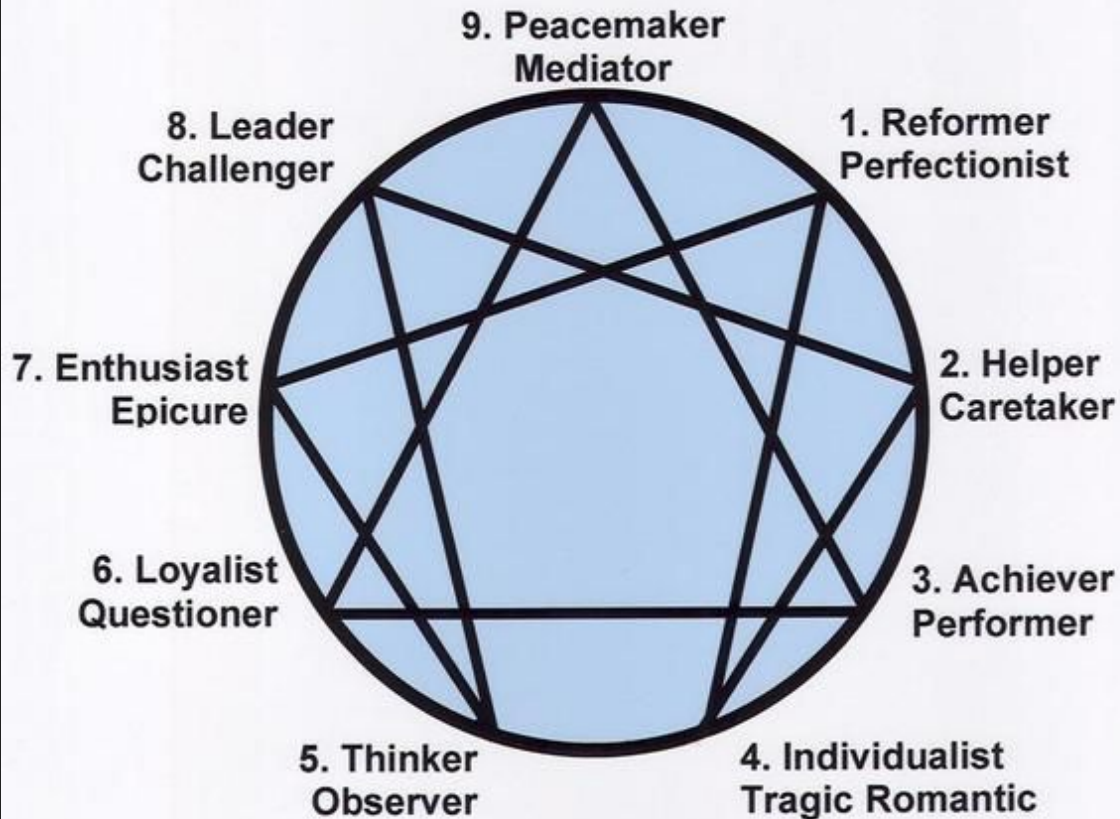

Why does the game play work really well?

- Each character class has its own unique strengths, weakness and weapons
- To win you need to cooperate in a team based environment
- A balance of different character classes is needed to achieve the objectives
- Natural character classes that work well together
 - Pyro + Engineer
 - Medic + Heavy

But this is not just about a game ...

The Enneagram

The Geometric Symbol of the Enneagram Personalities

▶ THE 9 STRENGTH ROLES

The StandOut strengths assessment measures you against 9 distinct Strength Roles. Your team members have received detailed individual reports outlining their top 2 Strength Roles and how they can make the most of them, and your Team Profile includes summaries of each team member's strengths. The 9 Strength Roles are:

1		ADVISOR	You are a practical, concrete thinker who is at your most powerful when reacting to and solving other people's problems.
2		CONNECTOR	You are a catalyst. Your power lies in your craving to put two things together to make something bigger than it is now.
3		CREATOR	You make sense of the world, pulling it apart, seeing a better configuration, and creating it.
4		EQUALIZER	You are a level-headed person whose power comes from keeping the world in balance, ethically and practically.
5		INFLUENCER	You engage people directly and convince them to act. Your power is your persuasion.
6		PIONEER	You see the world as a friendly place where, around every corner, good things will happen. Your distinctive power starts with your optimism in the face of uncertainty.
7		PROVIDER	You sense other people's feelings, and you feel compelled to recognize these feelings, give them a voice and act on them.
8		STIMULATOR	You are the host of other people's emotions. You feel responsible for them, for turning them around, for elevating them.
9		TEACHER	You are thrilled by the potential you see in each person. Your power comes from learning how to unleash it.

9 types of people you find on your team

Soldier

- Quiet and consistent
- Gets the job done
- Doesn't ask many questions
- Doesn't lead but is good at execution
- Competent and meticulous
- Doesn't like ambiguity
- Needs direction

Heavy

- Slow and frustrating
- Does everything the hard way
- Puts in a lot of effort but doesn't have enough results to show for
- Doesn't realize what gaps they have in skills
- Instead of learning new things, tends to grind their way through work

Demoman

- High performer
- Doesn't care about others in the team
- 10xer
- Always looking to ace any given task
- Focussed and highly productive
- Demolishes any obstructions or difficulties in their path

Sniper

- Precise and accurate
- Extremely smart and know exactly what needs to be done to accomplish a task
- Effortless in their work style
- Can be patient and wait for the right opportunity
- Good at doing tasks that others may find boring

Medic

- Great listener
- Has good emotional quotient
- Helpful and understanding
- Supports others in the team
- Builds trust and respect

Engineer

- Highly analytical
- Comfortable with ambiguity
- Figures out patterns and likes to find better ways of doing things
- Comes up with new ideas
- Try to make sense of things

Scout

- Good at connecting ideas and people
- Aligns well with other experts in the team
- Acts as catalyst in speeding up the tasks
- Very social and easy to work with
- Helps others see new perspectives

Spy

- Curious by nature
- Biased for action
- Thrive in ambiguity and uncertainty
- Like to experiment with things
- Work well with limited direction and guidance

Pyro

- Impatient to get to decision
- Driven and passionate
- Direct and to the point
- Have a mission/purpose and care about a set of values
- Leads and builds momentum at work

Steam profile stats

The great thing about this is that instead of filling in long psychometric tests you can just play the game and discover what character class you like

Thank

you all for not you being fun

classes in tf2